What to do with your old phones across Europe

Sell or Donate

In the websites below, you can find locations to sell or donate phones in your area. In most situations you will receive a price based on the phone's value and condition, or you may wish to donate the phone to support a cause.

Find recycling or collection points

If your phone is broken or has a low value you can often recycle it for free. Find out where to drop off your old phones locally with the websites below. Besides these options, most retail shops are regulated by law to have drop-off points for old phones, free of charge.
